THE BRITISH COLONIST.

Wednesday Morning, July 10, 1872.

The Indians and the Railway.

It is not without good reason that Canada has become accustomed to boast of her superior success in dealing with the Indian Tribes. It would be difficult to conceive of a more striking contrast than has been presented by Canada and the United States in this respect. The settlements and civilization of the one have been extended and advanced in peace and good-will. The Canadian pioneer has found a friend, often a helper, in the Red man. The path of the other has been too often marked with blood. The pioneer has had to advance with the implement of husbandry in the one hand and the implement of war in the other, and the scalping-knife has brought to a sudden and disagreeable termination the career of many an enterprising settler on the south side of the forty-ninth parallel of latitude. Even on this coast the Indians have not been slow to discriminate between the 'King George man' and the 'Boston man,'—the one being the object of confidence, the other the synonym of distrust and duplicity. It was no small consideration, in undertaking the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway, more than one-half of which passes through territory where Indian is King, to be able to reflect under what favorable circumstances that great enterprise would be prosecuted as compared with American lines. The workmen would not have to be guarded by bayonets, as was the case farther south. Nor would there be perpetual ground for fearing interruption to the working of the line by hostile savages. The feeling of security and self-satisfaction arising out of these considerations has been slightly ruffled by intelligence recently received from the North. Of all the tribes in this Province, probably the Chilicoten is at once the most formidable and least civilized. The terrible massacre at Bute Inlet, in 1864 will still be fresh in the public mind. There were circumstances connected with that massacre which lent color to the belief that these Indians would be disposed to regard with more disfavor than other tribes the establishment of communication through their territory; and it is scarcely surprising that there is a feeling of uneasiness lest the railway scheme should meet with opposition from that source. It will be well to avoid exaggerating these fears, on the one hand, and it will be wise, on the other hand, to act upon the principle that 'an ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure.' It is already known that the Federal authorities have dispatched Mr O'Reilly to Bute Inlet, and it is understood that he will remain there as long as the surveying parties are present in that part of the country. This is all very well as far as it goes. But it does not go far enough. It is difficult to believe that the semblance of authority at Bute Inlet is going to cow the entire Indian population of all that large territory known as the Chilicoten country. But even if it should have that effect for the nonce, something more is demanded in the permanent interests of the Province and, it may be added, of the Dominion. Our relations with the Indians can only be placed on a satisfactory basis through a thoroughly organized policy, whereby all misconception as to the intentions of the Government towards themselves may be averted. The seeming tardiness of the Dominion Government in relation to this matter has more than once formed the subject of complaint; and we desire again to direct the attention of the head of the Department at Ottawa to the danger and unwisdom of procrastination. Look at it from the very lowest standpoint: In 1864 we saw something like seventy thousand dollars expended upon a weak and very unsuccessful attempt to punish the perpetrators of the massacre already adverted to. Looking at it in the higher light of security to life and property and general well-being of red and white, it would appear to be of no light importance that those organized agencies and that benign policy which have proved so successful on the other side of the continent should be introduced and set in operation here with the least possible delay. Continued delay may result in Canada losing on the Pacific the reputation gained on the Atlantic. Canada must endeavor to realize that she has suddenly assumed the responsibility of governing a semi-barbarous population of between forty and fifty thousand—a population, too, allowed in the past to be very much a law unto itself. We warn the Federal authorities of the danger and folly of delay.

A Dear Whistle.—The way of the transgressor is hard, but the hardest road that ever transgressor had to tread was trodden by a certain George Riley, who was convicted in New York recently of robbing a man of twelve-seven cents, and was sentenced by Recorder Hackett to twenty years in Sing Sing. Twenty years for twenty-seven cents! We do not sympathise with the ruffian, who doubtless expected to get more, and who would, if hard pressed, have beaten his victim's brains out. At a rough calculation he serves two hundred and sixty-three days odd hours for every cent of his illgotten gains. His error was in flying at such small game. Had he robbed a bank of a few hundred thousand, and compounded with the officials by restoring one-half of the amount stolen, he would have been able to build a palace on the Lake of Como, and to live like a prince.

Holloway's Pills and Ointment.—Scurvy and diseases of the Skin—Fever, restless sleep, foul stomach, tainted breath, languor, depression of spirits, always attendant on the worst cases of cutaneous eruptions, are speedily and radically removed by these medicines—the Ointment cleanses the skin, and the Pills purify the blood, stimulate the liver, and promote digestion. 25 cents per pot or box.

A CARD.

Victoria, B. C., July 8th, 1872.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST;—My attention has been called to an assertion in this morning's Standard to the effect that "Poor Joe," a patient in the French Hospital, "complains of neglect on the part of those who might be expected to aid him."

Now, Sir, if the allusion of the Standard be directed to the French Benevolent Society, its Committee or its Nurses at the Hospital, I beg to give it a complete denial "Poor Joe" has received every attention from the Committee. Every day the Commissioner of Service has visited the patient, and every necessary and luxury have been provided for him.

Four or five days ago I saw "Poor Joe" and he told me that he wanted for nothing "EXCEPT COMPANY—SOME ONE TO TALK TO!" Really, Mr Editor, I cannot see that the French Benevolent Society is called upon to provide patients with COMPANY. If they admit them and nurse them, furnish them with medical attendance and food, it is, I think, all that any reasonable man can expect.

This evening "Poor Joe" was visited by a Committee of Investigation to whom he expressed himself PERFECTLY SATISFIED with the attendance and care he has received from the French Benevolent Society.

I remain, Sir, Yours truly,
J. RUEFF.

Political.

To the Electors of Victoria District,

Including Victoria City, Victoria District, Esquimalt and Metchosin:

GENTLEMEN:—In a short time you will be called upon to elect two members to represent you in the House of Commons, and as many Electors have expressed to me a desire that I should offer myself as a candidate for that honorable position, I now solicit your suffrages, assuring you that, if elected, no effort on my part shall be spared to advance your interests at Ottawa, or to assist in legislating for the advancement of the whole Dominion. Politically I am in favor of giving a generous support to the present Canadian Administration, and should strongly advocate the national importance of the Railroad being terminated at Esquimalt. I should urge the establishing of a Quarantine Hospital at once; the opening of an Immigration Agency at Victoria, the building of a Lighthouse at the entrance to, and the dredging of Victoria Harbor. I should endeavor, if necessary, to obtain an increased guarantee for the Dry Dock, and should point out the benefits and importance of completing the Railroad from the Pacific to Lake Superior (at east) in the shortest possible time From present information upon the subject it appears there is little prospect of both Houses being in session this year at the same time, but should it prove otherwise, and should I be elected to the Commons, I should feel in honor bound (though with great reluctance) to resign my presence at in the Local House, and enable another representative to take my place.

I remain respectfully your obd't servant,
je29 ROBERT BEAVEN.

INCLUDING Victoria City, Victoria District, Esquimalt and Metchosin:—By the local papers of to day I see that there is a third "Richmond in the field" to represent us in the Commons Parliament. Biding the time.

I remain yours faithfully,

The Skeena Trouble—Arrival of Messrs Brown and Currie.

Messrs. R. H. Brown and T. Currie arrived from Skeena River in a canoe yesterday, bringing particulars of the Indian difficulty there. They were only seven traveling days in coming down, and laid over two days on account of dense fogs. Several bear and deer were killed on the trip and their meat served our travelers with savory dishes. The difficulty appears to have arisen from the drowning of six Stick Indians early in the season—their tribe imagining that they should be compensated for their loss by the whites; and from the more recent destruction of the Kilsekutlah village, thirteen miles below Hazleton (at Skeenaforks). The village was entirely destroyed and the damage sustained by the savages was very great. The conflagration (according to the Indians) was caused by miners lighting fires to cook with on the banks, the flames of which ran through the underbrush and dry grass and communicated with the lodges.

Mr. Brown, while on his way up the river, was stopped by an armed band of natives who forbade him proceeding above the cañon and he was compelled to return. Mr. Hankin while descending the stream, was fired at twice from the river bank. He ran the gauntlet and attempted to pack Indians over the trail with goods, when the Stick's drove the packers back. Mr Currie was freighting goods for the Hudson Bay Company, and when he reached Kitsalass his Indian crew (13 in number) deserted, they having been warned by the Stick Indians to do so. Mr Currie stored the goods and returned with Mr Brown to the Mouth.

The Hudson Bay Company's pack train was at the Forks.

As we stated yesterday, the Indians relented after the departure of Messrs Brown and Currie, and sent a petition to the Governor with respect to their losses.

THE CLEARING-HOUSE.—The Honorary Secretary to the London bankers has communicated to the public intelligence in reference to their business not less extraordinary than significant and instructive. Twenty-six London banks constitute the members of the clearing-house. In 1867-8 its operations reached £3,557,411,000; in 1871-2 they amounted to £5,359,722,000, an increase of 63 per cent in the short space of four years, or £2,102,311,000. Even within the one year from 1871 to 1872 the increase reached upwards of £1,341,258,000, or not far short of double the National Debt. Every new State Loan reveals the fact that ten times its amount is sought for allotment.

BOARD OF EDUCATION—ELEVENTH MEETING.—Pursuant to adjournment the Board met yesterday at the usual hour. Present, Messrs. Marvin, Tolmie, Drake, Munro, Williams, Langley and Superintendent—a full Board. Several communications from different parts of the Province were read and disposed of. Arrangements were made for another examination of teachers, and others purposing to become such, on Monday and Tuesday next at the Education Office, after which several appointments to schools will be made. Adjourned till Tuesday next.

CANADIAN MANUFACTURES.—It appears from answers to questions by the Committee on Manufactures during the recent session of the Dominion Parliament that $9,134.000 was invested in manufacture in the rural districts of Ontario, and only $4,971,000 in the cities of Ontario; and while 10,357 persons are employed in manufactures in the rural districts of that Province, there were only 6 828 in the cities. The explanation is probably to be found in the fact that living is cheaper and water-power more plentiful in the rural districts than in the cities.

THE BALLOT.—We are rather surprised to meet with the following paragraph in the Montreal Star:—"All true friends of progress will rejoice that Mr Tremblay's Ballot Bill has been shelved in the Dominion Parliament. We hope the day will never come when the men of Canada will have to acknowledge themselves so enslaved as to be afraid of expressing an opinion in a manly, open way. The Ballot pre-supposes a state of society degrading in the extreme and covers over, instead of cutting out, the cancerous sore."

THREATS.—We have heard of an instance wherein a party canvassing for votes for one of the candidates for the Commons saw fit to threaten to visit an elector with certain pains and penalties in case he failed to cast his vote in a direction to please the canvasser. It is but proper that canvassers should understand that to threaten an elector is regarded as a misdemeanor under the Act and that it is punishable accordingly. Besides, the seat of the candidate in whose interest the threats are made will be jeopardised.

THE "CALIFORNIA" REDIVIVUS.—The propeller California, Capt. Hayes, in charge of Capt. Pamphlet, Pilot, arrived from Nanaimo last evening with Mr. George Weidler, the Transportation Company's manager, and towing Walker's "camels." The California has been completely repaired and is now better than ever before. She will sail for Bellingham Bay this afternoon to load with stone, and will sail for Portland in about four days' time.

ARRIVAL OF THE MAUDE.—The steamer Maude, Capt. Holmes, arrived yesterday afternoon from Nanaimo, with Messrs. Williams, McNeil, Hamilton, Gibbons, Smith, Burr and Brown, as passengers. She will make her next trip for Nanaimo on Saturday next. The Maude towed the bark Shooting Star, for San Francisco, out of Nanaimo harbor yesterday. The ships Revere and Germania and barks Union and Constitution and steamship Idaho were loading.

FOR THE EAST COAST.—The steamer Sir James Douglas sailed at 6 o'clock yesterday morning for Nanaimo, Comox, etc., with the following passengers: Chief Justice Begbie, J Richards, W P Sayward, Hon A R Robertson, Bishop Hill's, C E Pooley, G A Kelley, Mr Wollacott, R E Green and about a dozen others. She had a full freight.

STEAMSHIP MOVEMENTS.—The propeller California will sail from Bellingham Bay about Saturday for Portland, and will probably call off this harbor for passengers. The steamship Idaho wil sail from Nanaimo today for San Francisco. The Gussie Telfair will load with lime at Orcas Island for Portland and will sail to-morrow.

Victoria, July 8th, 1872.

IRELAND is to have its International Exhibition, so that it may not fall short of England in showing its love of art treasures. The exhibition will be held in Dublin, and paintings and objects of art drawn from Irish mansions will form a special feature. Sir Arthur Guinness, whose name is already known in connection with many generous deeds, has guaranteed the whole cost and assumed the whole responsibility. His efforts have been worthily responded to by the nobility and gentry of Ireland, of all creeds and classes. The Duke of Leinster, who will probably be no small contributor, is President of the Committee, and the Duke of Abercorn, Ireland's only other Duke—who possesses whole roomsfull of lovely objects—will, no doubt, contribute his quota. The Marquis of Landsdowne, the Duke of Devonshire, and the host of other great noblemen who hold large estates in Ireland, will, we may be sure, be not slow to assist the cause, and the spectacle which will be opened to the public by the Duke of Edinburgh on the 5th of June, at Dublin, bids fair to be one of the most charming—and all the more so that it will not be too large—that the civilized world has ever seen. At a recent meeting of the committee Sir Bernard Burke, the well known genealogist, stated that the loan of portraits illustrative of Irish history would be a most important feature, and Lord de Mallahide promised that there would be magnificent collections of china and other curious and beautiful objects.

Dual Representation.

EDITOR COLONIST.—It may interest the Electors of this District at the present juncture to be reminded of what members of the Local Legislature had to say upon the question of Dual Representation, when it was up during last session. The following is the report of the debate as published in your own paper; and I have taken the liberty of adding your contemporaries' report of Mr Beaven's remarks:

"Mr Semlin moved that section 1 in 'The Qualification and Registration of Voters Act, 1871,' be amended by adding the words 'any member of the House of Commons of Canada,' after the word 'designation' in said Section. This was directed against dual representation. He said dual representation in Ontario was all very well where the members could get from their constituencies in one day. He was of opinion that owing to the long distance between this and Ottawa, and the complications that might arise, that it would be better if dual representation be done away with.

Mr Robson seconded. He said that in this, our first session, the only member who was a representative of two Houses, was unable to attend here. To say that this would not happen another year would be absurd. The attempt had been made to abolish dual representation in Ontario, and it had entirely succeeded; and as they had abolished it in the maritime provinces, he thought it was best that we should abolish it.

Mr Bunster opposed the motion as we had not material that would accept the responsibility.

Mr. R Smith said he thought it was like serving two masters. He thought there was plenty of material.

Mr. McCreight said he thought it was premature of this House to make this resolution. He thought the Commons was a very good school for politicians. What had happened this year was not likely to happen again, as this House would in future meet about November, and the House of Commons about January. He thought that the electors would take pretty good care that they were not represented by a person who was already a member of the House of Commons.

Dr. Ash also opposed the motion.

Mr. J.P. Booth also opposed it. He said that as the honorable member for Yale had said, there was plenty of material, but it was raw. He moved an amendment—that the act be referred to a select committee and that the select committee be instructed to introduce "Voting by Ballot."

Mr. W. Smithe seconded the amendment.

Mr. J. P. Booth, after some discussion, withdrew his motion.

Mr C Booth said he thought the question of dual representation is one which ought to be considered on its own merits, and he was glad the hon member for Cowichan had withdrawn his motion.

Mr Robertson said he was obliged to differ with his hon colleague the Attorney General. This was not in the least personally directed against the hon member who is absent. He thought the sense of the House ought to be shown most decidedly. He agreed with the hon member for Yale that a man cannot serve two masters. He said a man might be subjected to two conflicting interests. It might also put too much influential power in the hands of a member.

Mr Humphreys rose to oppose the motion. He said it was a question for the people, and for the people alone to decide,

Mr. Beaven was totally opposed to the system of dual representation, but after the danger of it having been so well shown by the Hon Colonial Secretary, there was hardly anything left for him to say. He intended to support the resolution.

[Mr Beaven spoke strongly in favor of the motion. He wondered that so many gentlemen could have taken the opposite view of the question in the empty seat of the only gentlemen belonging to this House who was also a member of the House of Commons.—Standard.]

Hon Mr Walkem rose to oppose the motion. He said he was a candidate for the Local Legislature and also for the House of Commons. He was compelled to withdraw from the latter by request of some of his constituents, for they found out that the House could not sit in November and would not meet until the same time as the House of Commons was sitting. He thought the House of Commons would be a good school in politics for any one of the members.

Mr Holbrook said he was sorry to oppose two of his colleagues, but he was greatly against dual representation. How could a man do his duty to both parts of his business at once? He thought a man lost a great deal by being away from his seat one week. Supposing the House did meet in November, the House might have a very large amount of business, and that of a very important kind on hand; which would last so long as to prevent an hon member from getting to Ottawa in time to be present at the House of Commons.

Mr Armstrong said he did not think this was so very important a question. (Hear hear.) He thought it should be left to the electors He was glad to see the Attorney-General wished to have experienced men in this House.

Mr Semlin in reply said that the arguments he had listened to only made him more in favor of his motion. If the Ministry could attend to both houses at once it showed they had nothing to do here. If they had nothing to do what was the good of them? Another hon member said there was no material. He thought that was an insult to British Columbia outside of themselves and the six members for the Commons. He thought there was just as good material outside the House as in.

The motion was lost by the following vote: Ayes—Robertson, Holbrook, Todd, Beaven, Hunter, Semlin, R Smith, Robinson, Robson, Duck Mara.—11. Nays—W. Smithe, Ash, J P Booth, Cogan, Bunster, C Booth, Humphreys, Hughes. Jamieson, Armstrong, Walkem, McCreight.—12.

It may well be left to the Electors of Victoria to apply the remarks of M.P.P.'s to the present contest. AN ELECTOR.

The British Metal Market.

The Times' Birmingham correspondent wrote on the 17th, as follows respecting the iron trade:

"The near approach of the Whitsuntide holydays caused great pressure for deliveries under old contracts, but little new business was transacted, owing chiefly to the reluctance of makers to incur further engagements in the face of a rising market. Prices were not quotably altered, but the advances for last week, for hoops, sheets and wire were firmly maintained, and pig iron was rather stiffer. For native all mine hot blast £6. 10s. may be accepted as the general quotation, and in exceptional cases still higher prices are named. Cold blast realizes £7. 5s. to £7. 10s., and cinder as much as £5. 12s. 6d. Even at these extreme prices pig iron is difficult to get, and for certain brands the demand is so urgent that consumers' waggons are crowding round the furnaces to cart away the pig as fast as it is made. The scarcity and dearness of raw iron necessarily tend to limit the production of the manufactured article, and deliveries, more especially of sheets, strip and rods, are greatly in arrear, much to the inconvenience of local merchants and hardware manufacturers. Bars continue in comparatively moderate request, at from £12 to £13 at the works. Nail sheets are scarce at £14. Hoops are quoted £12 15s to £14, and strip for gas and water tube purposes at £13 10s to £15 10s. For sheets the demand is still very active at £16 to £16 10s for 'singles' and as much as £17 12s for 'doubles.' Even at these unprecedented prices there is not much disposition shown by makers to accept long engagements as a probable further rise of wages at Midsummer, combined with the invariable effect of the hot weather in interrupting production, may be expected to advance prices still further, altogether irrespective of the activity of demand. Export orders continue plentiful on account of the United States, Canada, and Russia; but the home demand is for the present rather quieter. Mills and forges meanwhile continue in full operation. At a meeting of the general brassfoundry trades of Birmingham this afternoon, it was resolved to make a further reduction of 5 per cent, in the discount in order to meet the increased price of copper.

CAPTAIN KYDD.—The reported discovery of a portion of Captain Kydd's treasure in New Jersey has awakened an interest in the story of the most notorious pirate that ever ploughed the seas in search of plunder. Kydd was a native of London and was born, as nearly as can be ascertained by vague records, in the year 1648. He followed the sea from early youth and gained the name of being a bold, daring and successful navigator. William of Orange, a prince who was an adroit financier and shrewd money maker, was then on the throne of England; he saw that the high seas were infested with pirates and that to hunt them down and retake their plunder was a good way to fill up his own coffers. For this purpose he organized an association for the suppression of piracy, and put Capt Kydd in charge of it. Nothing could have suited Kydd better than this. He scoured the ocean in an unscrupulous career of robbery and murder, until his name was a terror to all navigators. He attacked Spanish galleons, Portuguese fellow corsairs, and the very merchant ships of England, for whose protection he had been employed. He filled his ship to the full with Indian treasures, African gold and Spanish dollars. It is estimated that during the five years of his piratical cruising he accumulated treasure to the amount of twenty million of dollars. Early in his career Kydd had quarelled with the Earl of Ballamont about a woman, and had made the powerful noble, then Governor of New York and Massachusets, a bitter enemy. The latter person hearing that Kydd had murdered his boatswain made strenuous and successful efforts to secure the pirate, and finally brought him to justice in 1701, when he was hung in chains at Execution Dock in London. Much of Kydd's treasure was known to have been buried on the shores near New York, and several times large amounts have been found. A few days since some fishermen, while dredging for oysters in Staten Island Sound, found some ancient Spanish silver coins which have been hastily pronounced a part of the pirate's treasure.

A remarkable scene occurred in the House of Lords two or three weeks ago. In the British Parliament, a member of the House of Commons who becomes bankrupt loses his seat if he does not pay up within a twelvemonth; and a bankrupt peer is utterly disqualified from sitting, voting, or speaking in the House of Lords. On discharging his indebtedness, however, a bankrupt peer becomes rehabilitated. These provisions are of recent introduction. Formerly, Parliament was a favorite refuge for impecunious aristocrats who wished to avoid the unpleasant attentions of the bailiffs. A victim to the new rules in the House of Lords, Lord DeMauley—who had been compelled to vacate his seat — having paid his creditors and produced a certificate from the Court of Bankruptcy to that effect, on motion of the Lord Chancellor, has been reinstated in his privileges as a peer, with all the formalities due to so important an event. This was the first occurrence of such a ceremony in that body.

TERRIBLE FALL OF A FEMALE ACROBAT.—Not long since, during the performance of the troupe of Japanese known as "The Great Dragon" troupe, at the Gaiety Theatre, West Hartlepool, a woman who performs on the high slack wire and inclined rope was ascending the latter, which stretches from the stage at an angle of 45 degs, to the top of the gallery front, when, only two or three strides from the top, she became so startled by a thoughtless man striking a vesuvian immediately before her eyes that she lost her balance and fell into the pit, a depth of about 40 feet. A wild scream from the audience bespoke the terror caused by the accident, but, marvellous to add, she was seen to rise almost unhurt and walk to the stage to continue her performances thereon; and equally singular, as it will appear, none of the occupants of the pit upon whom she fell received any greater injury than a shaking and a few bruises.

Lost Health Regained.

Self-neglect lays the foundation of much bodily suffering. As a rule men are more solicitous to repair and preserve their houses, stock in trade and other perishable property than to repair and preserve themselves. They can see when a wall requires a prop, or a weak structure a girder, but appear to be unconscious of, or indifferent to, the cracks and flaws and evidences of decay in their own frail and sensitive organizations.

The consequence of this want of common prudence is that thousands fall by the wayside in the prime of life every year who might have lived to enjoy a hale and hearty old age, if they had resorted to the proper means for recruiting their failing vigor at the proper time.

Seeing what that famous vitalizing and invigorating elixir, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, has done for countless multitudes of the enervated and broken down, and with the long, unbroken record of its cures before him it seems amazing that any sufferer from premature decay, nervous weakness dyspepsia, biliousness, chronic constipation, or disease of a remittant or intermittent character, should delay, even for an hour, to seek the aid which its toning, regulating and invigorating properties have never failed to afford.

It is no exaggeration to say that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the most faithful ally of nature, in her struggles with weakness and disease, that medical botany and honest chemistry have yet given the world.

A WELL INFORMED EDITOR.—An Ohio journalist having read a statement to the effect that 'Miss Kellogg has a larger repertoire than any other living prima donna,' considered it his duty as a champion of truth to write the following: We do not, of course know how Miss Kellogg was dressed in other cities, but upon the occasion of her last performance here we are positively certain that her repertoire did not seem to extend as far out as either Nillson's or Patti's. It may have been that her over-skirt was cut too narrow to permit of its being gathered into such a lump behind, or it may have been that it had been crushed down accidently; but the fact remained that both Miss Kellogg's rivals were repertoires of a much more extravagent size—very much to their discredit, we think.

A very interesting case of the successful transfusion of blood from one person to another is described by Professor Judgeson of Berlin, in a recent number of a medical journal published in that city. His patient was a man of twenty-eight years of age, who had been poisoned by phosphorus, having taken a solution of the ignited mass of eight bundles of matches on the 5th of December. On the 11th of February, the activity of the heart having been excited by champagne, a transfusion of 580 cubic centimetres of blood, which had just been taken from three persons in good health, was effected into a vein of the arm, 500 cubic centimetres of the patient's own blood being at the same time taken from an artery. An improvement in his condition at once set in, and he was able to leave his bed early in March.

OF READING.—I never knew but one or two fast readers, and readers of many books, whose knowledge was worth anything. Mrs. Martineau says of herself that she is the slowest of readers—sometimes a page an hour. But when what she reads she makes her own Girls read too much and think too little. I will answer for it that there are few girls of eighteen who have not read more books than I have; and as to religious books, I can count upon my fingers in two minutes all I have ever read. But they are mine.—F. W. Robertson.

Men of great parts are often unfortunate in the management of public business, because they are apt to go out of the common road by the quickness of their imagination. This I once said of my Lord Bolingbroke, and desired that he would observe that the clerks in his office used a sort of ivory knife with a blunt edge to divide a sheet of paper, which never failed to cut it even, only requiring a steady hand; whereas if they should make use of a sharp penknife, the sharpness would make it go often out of the crease and disfigure the paper.—Swift.

COPPERAS is the cheapest as well as one of the most effectual disinfectants known, and its application is simple and perfectly safe, with this precaution, that it should not be kept in a mortal vessel unless of lead. Mixed in the proportions of one pound of copperas to eight quarts of water, and when thoroughly dissolved poured down drains, sinks or water-closets, it will at once remove the most obnoxious smell. No family, stable, provision shop or slaughter-house should be without a supply, and cities would be wise to order its use in sprinkling the streets of unhealthy localities, as is practised in London.

MARAVILLA COCOA.—No breakfast-able is complete without this delicious bverage.—The Globe says, 'Various importe s and manufacturers have attempted to attain a reputation for their prepared Cocoas, but we doubt whether any thorough success had been achieved until Messrs Taylor Brothers discovered the extraordinary qualities of 'Maravilla' Cocoa. Adapting their perfect system of preparation to this finest of all species of the Theobroma, they have produced an article which supersedes every other Cocoa in the market. Entire solubility, a delicate aroma, and a rare concentration of the purest elements of nutrition, distinguish the Maravilla Cocoa above all others. For homœopaths and valids we could not recommend a more agreeable or valuable beverage Sold in packets only, by all Grocers of whom also may be had Taylor Brother's Original Homœopathic Cocoa and Soluble Chocolate. Do over all 400 feet,
Width between copings 90 feet,
Do on floor ..... 45 feet,
Do of entrance..... 63 feet.

Further particulars as to plans, site, borings, &c. may be obtained from T. A. BUCKLEY, Esq., Chief Engineer to Government, upon application in writing to the Chief Commissioner of Lands and Works.

Tenders must specify the time within which the Dock will be completed, and may be accompanied by drawings and descriptions, showing exact dimensions, materials and mode of construction of proposed Dock.

Card of Thanks to Dr Chong.

AFTER BEING TREATED FIVE MONTHS by a white doctor, and spending nearly $300, I was worse than when I first went to him. I had quite despaired of being relieved when I read Dr Chong's Card in THE COLONIST. I placed myself under his care and in NINE DAYS I was a well man. I write this card to discharge a debt of gratitude I owe to Dr Chong, which charge, I may also say, was reasonable. My complaint was neuralgia. WILLIAM MCCORMICK.
